NEW PROGRAM STARTED AT OCEAN BEACH SCHOOL SUCCESS, SAYS TONNESS

(By Claire Hollobaugh)

Of the 273 students enrolled in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Ocean Beach Elementary school, approximately 165 have taken advantage, to date, of the religious program introduced into the school. The program was inaugurated last fall by the Inter-Faith Council of San Diego with the permission of the city school board.

The program, introduced into 10 schools throughout the city, consists in allowing one hour a week to those children who, with their parents permission, wish to be instructed in their chosen faith. Here in Ocean Beach every Friday, the children are escorted to one of three churches; the Baptist church, the Christian Science church, and the Sacred Heart Catholic church, and they receive instruction from teachers especially trained for religious work. "As far as we see it the program is working out very well. Attendance is being maintained at the same level and the children definitely like it," reports Dr. Alfred Tonness, president of the San Diego Inter-Faith Council. Model of Proposed New Local Church On Display Here

A model of the proposed new building for the St. Peter's-by-the-Sea United Lutheran church was brought into the Newport Ave. office of The News for display this week. Architect J. T. Joester of Ocean Beach, who is the architect and has drawn the plans for the new church edifice, made the model and George Speer, a member of the church board, made the plastic covering it.

According to inscription on the model, the new church will face on Sunset Cliffs Blvd. at the intersection with Adair St. Mr. Speer reports the main chapel building will seat 180 and the adjoining Sunday school and social room an additional 125. When opened together, the two will have an over-all seating capacity of 305.

Construction will be of frame and stucco and there will be ample space for car parking arranged for at the rear of the building, Speer reports.

Another scrap paper and magazine drive will be sponsored by the St. Stephen's School Parent-Teacher association, on a February date to be announced later, say the P. T. A. officers. The first of these projects, held on January 18, netted a profit of $21.22, they report.

FINAL RITES CONDUCTED JAN. 16 FOR NOTED CIVIC LEADER, WESLEY CRANDALL

Final funeral rites were conducted Jan. 16 in the La Jolla Memorial chapel for Capt. Wesley C. Crandall, well known San Diego civic leader of the beach area. He had passed away Jan. 13 at the age of 68. Crandall had served as city councilman from 1937 to 1939. He was executive secretary and director of the Ellen Browning Scripps Foundation. A native of Iowa, he moved here in 1905.

His last request definitely indicated his character, one of his Ocean Beach admirers informed The News. He urged that instead of any flowers for his funeral that their equivalent in money be donated to the free hospital service at the Scripps Memorial hospital and the Scripps Metabolic Clinic. Each of these maintain a free bed for needy patients unable to pay. "Flowers" for the suffering living instead of for the dead was his wish, she said.

Kiwanis Observes 32nd Anniversary Of Organization

Ocean Beach Kiwanis took cognizance of the 32nd anniversary of Kiwanis International at this week's Tuesday night session, held at Wallace Hall.

McLean Wilson of Ocean Beach, a past lieutenant district governor, was the speaker. Kiwanis started in Detroit Jan. 21, 1915, and has grown to 162,000 members in 2500 clubs. He traced the history of Kiwanis.

Frank B. McElwee was program chairman and several guests were in attendance. Milt Lancaster had his brother, Vernon of Detroit, as a guest.

Barbara Garrison of 3443 Zola St., part owner of Bab's Beauty Salon at 4966 Voltaire St., has been confined to her bed for at least a month. While she is away from the shop, Helen Pearce, her partner, is in charge. Mrs. Garrison says that she wishes to thank all her friends for the flowers and cards she has received during her illness.

Kraft Gets Busy With 22 Bills For Legislature

OCEAN BEACH SENATOR PUTS IN BILLS MAINLY TO AID THIS COUNTY

Senator Fred Kraft evidently is "on the job" getting new bills introduced into the state legislature at Sacramento. This week's report from the seat of California state government announces that the local solon has turned into the legislative mill not less than 22 different bills. The proposed legislation ranges from aid to impoverished school districts to technical changes in professional codes. Most of the bills which are being filed in sequence, have direct bearing on San Diego county affairs and many were requested by San Diego citizens.

Topping Kraft's bills is the one providing $30,000,000 in state aid to impoverished school districts. The measure, a companion to one already introduced in the assembly, is similar to the $30,000,000 school aid bill which Kraft co-authored in 1945 after which got lost in the last-minute adjournment shuffle and never reached a final vote. This bill would appropriate $30,000,000 to aid those school districts which are within one-half cent of their maximum allowable tax rate and have passed the 95 percent mark in bonded indebtedness. The money, to be used for construction, expansion and repairs, would be allocated by a state school building commission, consisting of the state director of finance, state superintendent of public instruction, state director of public works and one member each from the senate and assembly.

To Equalize Aid
Kraft says "Several districts in San Diego county are in dire need of financial aid. I feel we should equalize our aid to all school districts, rural or urban, and see that the pupils in the less-fortunate districts get adequate educational opportunities."

Kraft's legislative program also includes a bill which would require the state to refund to the cities and counties 100 percent of all liquor license fees, less administrative costs. "We find that cities are spending more and more of their police enforcement funds for offenses involving drunkenness," Kraft says, "and (Continued on Page Six)

Ocean Beach Man Saved from Crash Of Antarctic Plane

Ocean Beach residents who knew Aviation Radioman 3/c James H. Robbins, reported lost aboard a Navy patrol plane in the Antarctic, were pleased to learn that young Robbins was one of six survivors of the crash who were rescued. The six men, harrowed by their two-week ordeal on an Arctic ice shelf, told of burying three of their buddies, two killed instantly in the crash and the third dying the second day.

ARM 3/c Robbins, a former resident of Ocean Beach, received high praise from his comrades for his morale-building optimism, his efforts to send SOS calls by radio, and his cooking. Capt. Henry H. Caldwell, skipper of the seaplane tender Pine Island, from which the ill-fated plane was launched, and one of the survivors, said this about Robbins: "He was worth his weight in gold."

Besides doing most of the cooking and salvaging the plane's radio in an effort to send calls for help, Robbins figured in the rescue of Lt. Ralph Le Blanc, pilot of the plane. With two others, Robbins entered the burning wreckage shortly after the crash and freed Lieut. Le Blanc who was pinned to his position by a safety strap.

Young Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Robbins, attended Point Loma high school several years ago when his parents were living at 4354 Montalvo St. The Robbins family is now in Indiana.

Girls as well as boys are invited to join the band and all youths interested are urged to telephone Director Wright any evening after 6 o'clock at his home, Bayview 3269.

STORY OF ESTATE ATOP PT. LOMA TOLD BY OCEAN BEACH WRITER

PROPERTY FAMOUS AS HEADQUARTERS OF THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

Editor's Note: Mrs. Marian Kretler, Ocean Beach writer, has assembled the data and written for publication in the Ocean Beach News the following requested feature story of the estate atop Point Loma which acquired in times past an international as well as a national reputation:

(By Marian Kretler)

Time was when almost every San Diegan knew something of the purposes and personnel of "Lomaland," the estate atop Point Loma which was the International Headquarters of the Theosophical Society. In 1943, the original owners moved to Covina, and Lomaland passed to new ownership under the present name of "Woodlands."

Buildings, vacated by the Theosophical group, provided housing during the recent war, and the management estimates that at least 400 persons found shelter there at different times. Today, it still houses families, carefully screened for congeniality, and several of the larger edifices provide sleeping quar-

Crary Says High Tide Line Likely To Be Fixed Soon

Indications now are that the mean high line off the local beach will be settled out of court and fixed in another 30 days, Councilman G. C. Crary informed The News this week. He based his prediction on information he had from the city's attorneys who are handling the matter.

Crary phoned to give assurance that he is "staying on the job" in cooperating with Ocean Beach on beach improvement. He mentioned the tide line suit because proper development of the local beach cannot be really started until such line is definitely fixed.

Crary indicated that likely the first improvement would be the building up of the local beach with material to be dredged from the San Diego river channel outlet to the ocean.

V. F. W. Local Post Launches Campaign For New Members

Veterans of Foreign Wars of Ocean Beach have launched an intensive campaign for new members to add to the 110 already on the roster. Al McConnell of Ocean Beach, a national extension officer for the overseas veterans, informed The News this week. McConnell, a resident here for 19 years, and now living at 1430 Froude St., is putting in his full time at the work and has a territory that covers five of the California counties in this section of the state.

He estimates that there are not less than 1200 overseas veterans now living in Ocean Beach.

The local post, known as Lieut. Bert Allen post of the V. F. W., meets twice a month, the second and fourth Friday evenings, at the Woman's clubhouse, McConnell announces. He reports that the local membership was decided on at the last meeting of the post held here on January 10. He provides for publication the following announcement regarding the campaign:

The campaign started January 17 and will run to March 17—60 days. During this time each post is asked to give a gift of 100 new members to the commander-in-chief as a birthday gift.

"A special nation-wide broadcast is planned for March 17, as the climax of the celebration. It is hoped that, through the co- (Continued on Back Page)

ASSEMBLYMAN APPROVES ANDY TOSH'S SUGGESTIONS ON NEW TRAFFIC LAWS

Andrew Tosh, Ocean Beach Republican leader, received word this week from Assemblyman Frank J. Luckel that he expected legislation would be enacted soon to incorporate part or all of the traffic regulation measures recommended by Mr. Tosh in a letter to Assemblyman Luckel.

These recommendations would provide drastic penalties for such traffic violations as drunken driving, running stop signs, crossing double white lines in the center of the road, making a turn from the wrong lane and slow driving in high speed or passing lanes.

Senator Fred H. Kraft has also indicated interest in legislation to provide more stringent penalties for traffic violations, in an effort to curb the recent upswing in car accidents.

William Lancaster and his son Vernon of Detroit, Mich., father and brother of Milton Lancaster, arrived Sunday for a visit at the Lancaster home, 2330 Plum.

Local Girl Scout Leaders Invited to Annual Meeting

All Girl Scout leaders as well as parents of Girl Scouts of Ocean Beach are invited and urged to attend the annual meeting for all San Diego, to be held Friday noon at 12 o'clock, at the San Diego hotel, in the Continental room, announces Mrs. Helen Grubb of Ocean Beach, a member of the Girl Scouts committee for Troop 112. Reservations, she says, are to be made by January 28, and can be telephoned to her at Bayview 3333.

Not only will the annual reports for the Girl Scouts organization for the past year be given, but there will be a timely film shown on Scouting. "All adults interested in seeing and learning for what purposes the part of the Community Chest funds that is allotted to the Girl Scouts is used can get full particulars at this annual meeting," Mrs. Grubb states.

Ocean Beach troops are expected to enter the contest for best table decorations at this luncheon meeting, she said, using a miniature model of the new Ocean Beach recreation center as a theme.

Re-Surfacing of Newport Expected To Start in March

C. OF C. DIRECTORS HEAR REQUEST FOR RE-ZONING OF TWO LOCAL BLOCKS

Appearing before the Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday afternoon, Verne Parker, assistant city manager, announced that the city expected to begin re-surfacing of Newport Ave. and Bacon St. the first week in March. He conferred with the directors on various matters of street, parking and traffic improvement.

As to the parking problem, Parker declared himself in favor of meters rather than two-hour parking signs or parallel parking, though he said that off-street parking lots would be the best ultimate solution. General sentiment of the directors was that the two-hour parking installed this month should be given a fair trial before any changes are made in the system.

Earl F. Shaw of the Ocean Beach Furniture and several other interested property owners appeared before the directors with a request for cooperation in their petition to the city for rezoning for commercial purposes of the 4800 and 4900 blocks on Santa Monica Ave. A motion passed to the effect that the directors would consider the matter soon as the necessary approval of the property owners affected was obtained.

Sentiment was expressed in favor of having all the six blocks bounded by Santa Monica, Sunset (Continued on Back Page)

Babson Warns Management On Price Declines

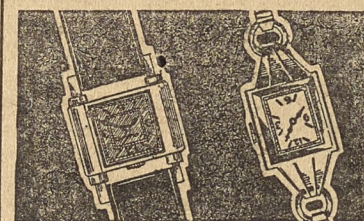

Babson Park, Fla., Jan. 17.—

With a Republican congress and the public trend toward conservatism, industry will be getting back again a measure of its beloved freedom of enterprise and freedom from controls at very difficult time. We are ending a period of rising prices. Following the law of action and reaction, we are heading toward a period of declining prices.

Business Headaches

Many inventories are already very high, production is catching up, and the public is showing a marked tendency to pick and choose in buying or to desist altogether. As I predicted in a previous article, discussing fish prices, we are seeing the beginning of a buyers' market. As this continues, businesses are apt to be left with inventories much reduced in value.

Strikes have so retarded normal production in the nation that reconversion problems have been multiplied. Constant wage-increase demands from labor unions are causing still higher production costs and higher prices. Portal-to-portal retroactive pay suits from some of the greasier unions are further threats to business stability. These are some of the difficulties management is facing today.

STORM

Old Man Weather can be mighty tough on telephone lines, especially in the High Sierras and Cascades where snow often piles high enough to cover poles completely and ice builds up several inches thick on wires. But when a major break occurs, crews of telephone workers swing into action fast . . . and with some rather ingenious equipment.

A snoplane like this one, powered by an airplane motor and propeller, can carry two men and considerable material on trails which would be impossible for trucks. Other expert mountaineer workmen speed to the break on snowshoes and skis. As a special safeguard against sudden storms, well-equipped shelter huts have been built along mountain lines.

Enough men rush to the job to keep repair work going without stop . . . in the meantime, calls are immediately rerouted whenever possible. And sooner than you might imagine, the damaged lines are in use again. For here, as in everything we're now doing to grow with the West, telephone people work with a splendid spirit of service and teamwork . . . and always with you in mind.

An ever-improving telephone service at the least cost consistent with good wages and working conditions for our employees and a reasonable return to the thousands of people who have invested in the business.

ent in the Universe. To promulgate the knowledge of the essential unity in all that is. To form an active Brotherhood among men. To study ancient and modern religion, science and philosophy. To investigate the powers innate in man."

To Katherine Tingley, the vast acreage atop the ocean cliffs seemed just the site for a school and university, whence Theosophical teachings could spread over the world.

Madame Tingley was a woman of intelligence, personality and energy and with a vast aptitude for spending money on vaster projects. Financial backing was free in those first days. Many who came to study, teach and live at Lomaland were people of ample means, wishing only to dedicate their lives toward the betterment of humanity. Their assets went towards the development of magnificent Lomaland, where they not only shared community duties but taught, or worked at special skills without remuneration.

The academy, with living quarters surrounding an auditorium, the temple of peace, were of Tingley planning. The beautifully carved doors of the temple represent the work of Reginald Machell, an outstanding English artist long in residence at Lomaland. The temple's amethyst-glassed dome is still a landmark. Beneath it, Machell wrought the lovely pastel symbolic murals and carved out the intricate decorations of the rostrum's white furniture.

Nowadays, the Greek Theatre, set in its hillside notch, backgrounded by cypress and sea, provides the scene for Point Loma high school's graduation exercises. The theatre, now softly chalking into decay, witnessed revivals of the ancient Athenian drama. The first of its pattern built in the United States, it provided the forerunner of the stadium as moderns know it.

There was to be a wonderful orchard, with strange fruit trees brought from tropical lands. Four hundred trees were planted and it is said that San Diego county's first avocado came from the Lomaland orchard. However, sufficient water was to be a never overcome problem, and drilling wells proved that there is no subterranean supply of water on Point Loma. In time, the enterprise was abandoned, although traces of the old orchard can still be seen.

Madame Tingley bought a downtown San Diego theatre, renamed it "The Isis," and attracted large audiences to its lectures, plays and pageants. Dedicated always to peace, an ornate program of June 1915, depicts scenes from the magnificent pageant and gives lists of the noted speakers lecturing in the interest of world harmony.

Katherine Tingley, while the work was going on at Lomaland, visited other countries, attracting to her philosophy people of learning and culture, who were to spend all, or part of their lives at Lomaland. Their children were sent to the schools to be educated in the rates and sciences, but above all, in the evolution of soul powers. Going to the prisons of California with her belief in Universal Brotherhood, madame Tingley lectured to the inmates and, coming down to the very practical, supplied milk without charge to San Diego's jail.

Lomaland did not exist for itself alone. Its outstanding musicians, artists and teachers came down from "the hill," to become an integral part of San Diego's civic and cultural life. For years, the distinguished painter, the late Maurice Braun, and his wife—Hazel Boyer Braun—art critic and writer, lived at Lomaland. John Davidson, present curator of the Serra Museum, and his wife, Winifred, "California's historian," were long in residence at Headquarters. The noteworthy couple has done much in keeping alive the history and preserving the physical background of old San Diego. Others, too many for listing, gave of their talents for local welfare.

Lomaland supported its own printing shop and bindery where excellent work was accomplished, and whence Theosophical books and literature were broadcast widely.

In a financial way, the Theosophical community began its decline after the first world war, when revenues and students from abroad were eliminated. Bequests by oldsters to the project were contested by relatives and in 1929, following an accident, Katherine Tingley passed away. In time, Doctor Gottfried de Purucker became the leader who tried to place his community on a sound financial footing.

"G de P" was a man of great scholarly attainment, the author of Theosophical books and a fine speaker, well beloved by his followers. For years, the Sunday afternoon lectures at the Temple of Peace were featured by his lectures, and not only Theosophists but visitors to San Diego came to Lomaland to enjoy the surroundings of land and sea and sky, and see the lovely and famous temple of peace.

But the old buildings were falling into disrepair. A huge debt for taxes accumulated against the estate, and then came the recent war. It seemed best to dispose of Lomaland, where listening posts were scattered throughout the area, airplanes flew over constantly, and the too close proximity of military installations interfered with quiet study. Lomaland was sold when an opportunity came to purchase a smaller and more modern estate at Covina.

A final auction at Lomaland, brought beautiful china, dishes, precious old furniture out of homes where they had long been cherished. The huge and ornate stage settings for the academy were purchased by San Diego's State College, and in time, Lomaland became Woodlands.

The Theosophical Society still maintains a building at 2772 Fourth Ave., but Covina is now International Headquarters. Doctor de Purucker died in September of 1943, just three months after leaving Lomaland, and the new leader of the movement is Colonel Arthur Conger.

Some of the older residents of Lomaland, who vacated when the move was made, have returned to their former homes, where something of the peaceful aroma of old times still clings. To them, it is still Lomaland where their children were born and educated. These children are now grown and, in many instances, carrying on the work chosen by their parents, disseminating the tenets of Theosophy to a restless world.

POINT LOMA TEEN TOWN DOINGS

(By Nancy Fieger)

What is the BIG secret . . . hih? It seems that the Trez-N's and the La Chere's have been meeting with some clubs from Hoover and San Diego to plan a big surprise for all the guys and gals in the Point Loma district. Watch for it!

Day after tomorrow, Sunday January 26, the La Chere's are going up to the mountains. Of course their dates will accompany them. The girls said that they will make a picnic lunch to take with them.

Stan Wilson's home was the place where the Rogues and the La Chere's met.

Party at Reynolds Home

After the basketball game to-night all the Qwiggs members and their dates will go to the home of Jimmy Reynolds, where a party will be held.

Up to El Monte

El Monte was the destination of the Qwiggs Sunday, January 5, when they went up to the mountains. The members and their dates left San Diego at 10 and got home before nightfall. While the gang was up at El Monte, the boys started singing, with Manuel Silva leading on his guitar. It just happened that a pair of newlyweds were there and asked the boys to serenade them. So the guys spent most of their time singing to the lovebirds.

New Club

It seems that there is a new club to your little committee. I am proud to introduce the JADES to you, my faithful readers. The Jades were started December 22, and the officers are: President, Joanne Jones; vice-president, Pat Ruud; secretary, Jean Key; treasurer, Pat Sharpe; publicity, Bessie Yount, and historian, Jerry Bell and the only other member is Evelyn Abby . . . ain't we got some job for her?

The club wants to increase itself to at least 15 members.

The Jades are thinking about taking the Chinese symbol for jade as their emblem for their pin. Smart idea!

Tea Planned

A "get acquainted" tea will be held on February 9 at the home of Jean Key. About 70 girls will be invited, both from clubs and those that don't belong to clubs. The tea will last from 2 till 4. The club members are planning to give some Rush teas in the near future.

Ice Skating Tomorrow

The Jades are going to go ice skating tomorrow night at Glacier Gardens. Stag that is! After the party the members might make a slumber party out of it and stay overnight at Pat Ruud's home.

A Trip to the Mountains

The J. O.'s have decided to take a trip to the mountains this Sunday, January 26. The guys and their gals will stay at the Thompson cabin. Hope they have a nice time.

To Hold Joint Meeting

The J. O.'s and the Sans Souzies had a joint meeting Wednesday night at one of the Sans Souzies home. Heard said that everyone had a Mello time.

Old Business

Seems that I've missed some things . . . such as the convertible that Tommy Sikes got for Christmas . . . the watch that dear old Santa gave Mary Ann Harris . . . and the record player that Bob Mellison got for Christmas. Also seems that I overlooked the "open house" that Barbara Ward gave . . . and the New Year's Eve party that Anne Bush gave for 16 of her best friends . . . the dinner that Ann Odinet gave up at Ramona—her guests were Bob Roberts, Pat Young, Bud Newman, Julie Bixby, Duane Michael, Hay Young, Harry Bixby, Mary Matsch, Bill Butcher, Joyce Bischoff, Everett Price, Barbara Carr, Cliff Hewitt and Anne Rutledge. Thelma Fintzelberg, Charlene Ryder and Carol Dickson went up to Warner's Hot Springs for the vacation . . . and Barbara Tipton visited in Oklahoma for the Christmas holidays.

New Business

Few more names on our ready-steady list: Dave Finster-Darline Gardner, Bob Thompson-Virginia Ayres, Betty Steely-Bill Word. There are some with question marks hanging over their heads. They are: Bill Butcher-Joyce Bischoff, Dana Allen-Virginia Pendleton and Gerald Porter-June Hallstrom.

Has anyone seen four girls jumping around like mad? Well they might be Nancy Wilhelm, Barbara Foran, Shirley Hill and Barbara Timmons who might be practicing for the song leader try outs.

Seems that Peggy Elliott is going steady with Ronnie Campbell and just a week ago she was crying her eyes out over James

The local Junior women were hostesses at the meeting, held at the Woman's clubhouse.

The Mission Beach Junior women who made the attractive "palm trees and bathing girls" that appeared as centerpieces on the tables were Edyth Mann, Elsie Tomkins, Sue Warden and Billie Keck. Virginia Adamson was the chairman of this decoration committee. The attractiveness of the tables substantially added to the success of the luncheon, which was prepared and served by the Ocean Beach girls, under the direction of Mrs. Lloyd N. Davis, president of the Ocean Beach Senior Woman's club.

Playlet Comedy Scores Hit at Jr. Women's Meeting

(By Marian Krettl)

If audience response is any indication, the newly formed dramatic group of the Junior Woman's club is headed towards a splendid future. Monday evening's performance of a one-act play, "Sugar and Spice," ran smoothly from amusing start to climax under the capable direction of Mary Oberg, and the girls were more than adequately assisted by the male members of the cast.

Marian Gentles was "Mrs. Jones," the understanding mother of a family that refused to be "elegant." The Jones family had a house guest, one born "Susan Harling," and played by Evelyn Stradley, "Suzanne," self-styled after a brief sojourn in France. "Suzanne's" original escort for an impending dance had fallen from a roof and hurt his ankle, so it was up to Mrs. Jones to provide another partner.

"Chump Edwards," done by Bob Brazell and how! the neighbor's son, more interested in repairing his auto horn than in taking a strange girl to a dance, was bribed into action by Mrs. Jones. She'd not only buy him a coveted horn that made a noise like a stock chicken but she'd give him a desired radiator cap, Rolls-Royce styled, if he'd take over the entertainment of Suzanne. Her wiles succeeded.

Enter pretty Pat Depew, disguised with beauty plasters, pin curls and chin strap, aged 15, "but one can't begin too soon to prevent wrinkles," much humiliated by her old-clothes-wearing and pipe-smoking father, played by Phil Sjoberg. What will Suzanne think, a girl living in a house full of butlers and chauffeurs if the Jones family refuses to be up to her snuff. A bit contemptuous of her current boyfriend, "Chump," Jane's standards are reversed when she finds Suzanne getting her way by flattery when Jane's spicy methods had failed. Jane almost lost Chump to the visitor, when she decided to use Suzanne's method of dealing out sugar instead of spice, and in the end, Chump was marched off to the dance by a beautifully costumed Jane, while Suzanne went downtown with Editor Jones to meet a movie star.

Marian Gentles took on years to enact the part of "Mrs. Jones," and Evelyn Stradley was a perfect example of feminine sweetness as Suzanne. Pat Depew's right about from a waspish youngster to a flattering "femme de mode," was nicely done. As the somewhat matter-of-fact dad of the family, and small town editor, Phil Sjoberg exactly fitted into his role, and Bob Brazell as Chump Edwards was a riot.

Bob tells us that he is 23 and served four years in the army, but his portrayal of a seventeenish lad was perfection.

Special credit goes to Phil Sjoberg, who is presently occupied in Long Beach, but who made trips to Ocean Beach for rehearsal and was due to return there immediately after the play.

Hair styling and makeup were cared for by Emmy Lou Blake, with professional results. You'll hear more of the Juniors' dramatic club, and a more entertaining evening's entertainment just can't be found.

Following the play, light refreshments were served by the junior girls, and everybody present voted it a fine occasion.

Installation ceremonies featured last Tuesday night's meeting of the Kiwani-Annes of Ocean Beach. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. J. O. Plant, 1946 president of the organization. Mrs. Mabel Jones was asked to install the new officers, consisting of Mrs. Alfred M. Sand, president; Mrs. Joe Beardsley, vice-president; Mrs. Heber Hartvigsen, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Sharon, treasurer. Mrs. Hartvigsen was installed by proxy, as she was unable to attend. Prior to the installation ceremonies Mrs. Jones gave a brief history of the Kiwani-Annes and read the names of the charter members.

Mrs. Sand, upon taking the chair, gave a brief talk and read the changes in the by-laws. Because of the installation ceremonies no program was held.

A "mystery" gift was received by Mrs. Roy Milton, who attended for the first time in three months. She had been confined to her bed during most of that time because of serious illness.

Royal Neighbors Hold Installation Of New Officers

Installation of officers of the Royal Neighbors, Ann Cordingly camp, was held on January 17 at 8 o'clock in the Woman's club. The hall was decorated with ferns and flowers and the seating was done by candlelight, which, according to those present, made an impressive ceremony.

The Point Loma high school girls' ensemble, under the direction of Vera Jane Parrott, furnished the entertainment. The ensemble was accompanied at the piano by Dorothy Sincos and Margaret Arney. Selections by Elmer Moore on the piano and Zona Arney on the accordion also formed part of the entertainment. Past oracle pins were presented to Mary Fold and June Stevens by the installing officer, Enid Markham. Retiring Oracle Mary Fold gave the installing officer and all her 1946 officers "thank you" gifts.

The Royal Neighbors Thimble club elected its 1947 officers in the afternoon of January 17 at the Woman's clubhouse. Mabel Haas was reelected president and Ethel Bazard, vice-president; Olive Moyer, secretary and treasurer. The election took place at the club's pot-luck luncheon.

FROZEN ASSETS

The possibility that atomic energy may provide the means for releasing for human use the enormous resources believed to lie under the ice caps of the Antarctic Circle is beginning to stimulate the imaginations of scientists, by all accounts. Apparently sparking this lively speculation is the latest adventure of Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the veteran explorer now serving as technical advisor on the Antarctic with the naval task force which may consolidate American claims to territorial rights to the vast, frozen underpart of our globe.

Explorers Byrd and Lincoln Ellsworth not only have enhanced, by the ancient right of discovery and examination, U. S. claims to the region—over those of Great Britain, Chile, Norway and France—but have brought back evidence that oil and minerals await exploitation there.

It is plausible to think that science of the Atomic Age may surmount the barriers of ice and cold that Nature has set up between those treasures and the habitable world. Only a few generations ago, Alaska, as a potential producer of wealth, appeared almost as inaccessible as the polar regions appear today.

At least it is a pleasant thought that the incalculable power of the atom, first released in the world as a frightful instrument of destruction, may in time be converted to a blessing to mankind—and even release for universal benefit the frozen assets of the world's last, ice-bound frontiers!

NO LAUGHING MATTER

Because they tickled your funny bone and made you laugh, the movie comedy team of Abbott and Costello made an awful lot of money in one year—or did they? A U. S. Treasury report, listing big incomes for the fiscal year ending 1946, puts Abbott and Costello at the top of the list, with salaries totaling $469,170.

The report, just released in Washington, also discloses the names of other well known film stars or business executives in the six-figure salary bracket—one who received $425,548, another who was paid $310,728, a third whose pay envelopes totaled $301,127, and a score or more who earned in excess of $100,000.

At first blush, it would seem that these individuals would have no trouble at all in becoming millionaires. Salaries like theirs make the ordinary mortal gulp. But wait! Let Uncle Sam tell the rest of the story. From the comedians, he took about $320,000 as income taxes. From the $425,548 earner, he lopped off even more. The $310,728 salary cost its recipient more than $233,700 in taxes; the comparatively lowly $100,000 brackets paid $62,300 each.

Of course, these taxes did leave the persons earning them with something more than bacon-and-egg money, but we venture that Abbott and Costello, and the rest of the group, got no more kick out of handing over the lion's share of their earnings to Uncle Sam than the $300 a month wage earner gets out of forking over his percentage to Washington.

It's no laughing matter, as the big-salaried film comedians have no doubt soberly concluded, to pay high income taxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson of 4785 Niagara Ave. entertained at a demonstration dinner at her home on Monday, Jan. 20 at 6 o'clock. Guests were, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stannard, Fred Barnett, Irene Fieger and Mr. and Mrs. William Goetz.

Fred Barnett of Pasadena, Calif., arrived at the home of his niece, Mrs. H. J. Stannard of 4792 Niagara Ave., on Monday for a few days' visit.

SEA BREEZES

Let's Laff
Maybe Think

It was one of mother's most hectic days. Her small son, who had been playing outside, came in with his pants torn. "You go right in, remove your pants, and mend them yourself."

Some time later, she went to see how he was getting along. The torn pants were lying on the chair. The door to the cellar, usually closed, was open and she called down loudly and sternly: "Are you running around down there without your pants on?"

"No, Madam, I am reading the gas meter."

Summer is gone,
Fall is fell,
Winter is here,
And it's colder 'n' usual.

On seeing signs like GVAR-ANTY TRVST,
O'er vaulted arch of stately dwelling,
I'm left feeling a bit nonplussed,
And vaguely vnsvre about my spelling.

—Not to mention the drunk who put a penny in a mailbox, looked up at the street clock in front of Jes-sop's jewelry store and cried, "Good Gadfrey! I've losht sheven pounds!"

Bill: "What kind of a dress did she wear to the party last night?"

Will: "I can't remember,
I think it was checked."

Bill: "You don't say!
That must have been a real party!"

Teacher: "Spell straight."
Young modern: "S-t-r-ai-g-h-t."

Teacher: "Correct. And what does it mean?"
Y. M.: "Without a chaser."

The veteran was telling his mother about the terrible barrage as Bastogne.

"Why didn't you get behind a tree?" she demanded.
"Tree!" he said. "Why,
there weren't enough to go around for the officers."

Kraft Gets Busy

I firmly believe that money collected for liquor license fees could be spent more effectively by the cities and counties in law enforcement work than by the state.

Would Transfer Lands

Kraft's program includes the following major bills:

1—A bill which would transfer jurisdiction over land created by natural or artificial accretion to the state division of parks and beaches from the state lands commission. "This applies particularly to Silver Strand beach," Kraft said, "and would permit its use as a state park."

2—A bill which would permit the state park commission to grant easements to public utility concerns to permit them to cross state park lands, when such action will promote the development of the park system. "This applies to Anza and Borrego desert state parks," Kraft said.

Traffic Rules Included

3—A bill keeping slow drivers out of inside traffic lanes by prescribing that traffic on the inside lanes of a multi-laned highway be maintained at the prima facie speed limit.

4—A bill adjusting the state income tax exemptions from gross income to become 10 percent up to $5000 gross income and $500 over $5000. This would be similar to the federal law, Kraft said.

5—A bill permitting divorce in California when the spouse has been committed to a mental institution in another state. As it is now, Kraft said, divorce proceedings could be brought only in

HOME PLANNERS WILL GIVE FREE PROGRAMS AT GRADE SCHOOL

(By Frank Lockett)

Indicating the awakened interest in new home building now that restrictions are lifted, the Home Planners Institute of San Diego county will present a series of 10 free programs in Ocean Beach starting Thursday evening, January 30, at the Ocean Beach Elementary school.

The 10-lecture series is being presented by leading San Diego business organizations in connection with the adult education program, and will feature as speakers 20 outstanding authorities in the field of home building. The program is especially designed in the interests of those who intend to build, buy or remodel a home in the near future.

Featured speakers on the opening program will be E. G. Merrill, title insurance executive, who will discuss the vital steps in organizing a plan; and John Milton Barber, American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, who will discuss important factors to be considered in the selection of a lot.

During the past two years several Home Planners Institute programs have been presented in Ocean Beach with tremendous success. The series is being repeated for the third time at the request of Ocean Beach citizens desiring up-to-date and authentic information on new home building. To date more than 5000 residents of San Diego county have attended the Home Planners free classes during the past two years, Lockett revealed.

Announcement was made that the general February meeting of the Chamber, Monday evening, Feb. 3, would be a dinner meeting to be held at the Woman's clubhouse.
